JAP WITHDRAWAL IN CENTRAL CHINA SEEN

The War Today..

Fate of the Mikado

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign News Analyst

THE CHUNGKING NATIONAL HERALD, which speaks for the Chinese foreign office, has come out in support of the proposal by the Allies that the Japanese Emperor Hirohito be executed as a war criminal.

"Let him be hanged with the rest of the gang," exclaims the newspaper.

Well, it's easy to understand this feeling after all that China has suffered at the hands of her barbaric neighbors. And the Chinese agent the only people who have a long account to settle with the Japs. However, one question is whether we should be wise to hang the Mikado, and that being so, whether it is discreet to advocate in advance of an Allied decision, such a proposal, coming from Chungking, can only have the effect of making the Japanese fight harder and longer at this critical juncture.

The argument for executing the Mikado is that Japanese militarism is built about him as god-emperor. It's said, and rightly, that it is because his subjects regard him as divine that they fight so fanatically for him.

However, it's one thing to say Hirohito is the symbol about which the people rally, and quite another to credit him with being the real head of the government or of the militaristic machine. There's some doubt whether he knows exactly what it's all about. In any event, he is being used as a tool by the militarists.

It can be argued, of course, that a religion like Shinto, the way of the gods, which lends itself to the machinations of the war-lord, is better smashed. Still, it is fairly obvious that if we did hang the emperor and did try to destroy the religion, we should be creating chaos in Japan, and therefore should be undertaking a dangerous experiment.

For this reason—and not because of any regard for Hirohito or his religion—many observers feel that the Allies should proceed circumspectly. At any rate, before advertising the hanging they should have made up their minds definitely that they are going to carry it out, and risk prolonging the war. Here it should be added—and this is important, I believe—that decision not to hang the emperor wouldn't preclude forcing him to give up his throne to a more suitable incumbent.

Word from Potsdam is that President Truman reportedly is trying to clear the way for concentration of the Big Three on the war against Japan, and observers are watching intently to see what steps the trio may take to expedite unconditional surrender. Mr. Truman is said to maintain that the saving of American lives is of paramount importance to the American government. So one would think that the question of unconditional surrender would take precedence over the hanging of the uncaught Mikado.

Furly as a matter of speculation, it seems clear that should Russia come into the war, it would greatly shorten the conflict. One of the prime reasons as I see it, is that the Allies could render Manchuria impotent rather quickly by striking from Soviet soil. Many of Japan's war industries are in Manchuria, and if these were destroyed both Nippon and her big war-machine on the continent would be in a bad way.

TRUMAN SAYS
U. S. WANTS NO
TERRITORIESGoal Is World Peace, He Says At Berlin Flag
Raising Ceremony

POTSDAM, July 20 — President Truman, speaking at a symbolic flag raising over conquered Berlin, said today the United States wanted not once piece of territory, but "peace and prosperity for the world as a whole."

The speech had great significance against its background of the Big Three conference, where the President is joining Britain and Russia in helping to settle European boundary and other problems.

"We are raising this flag in the name of the people of the United States, who are looking forward to a better world, a peaceful world, in which all the people will have an opportunity of enjoying peace and opportunity," Mr. Truman said.

The Stars and Stripes raised over the United States Group Council headquarters in the former headquarters of Germany's air defense was the flag that flew over the Capitol in Washington the day the United States entered the war against the Axis. It flew over Rome when the first Axis capital was captured. It is destined to be raised over Tokyo.

Not War of Conquest
"Let's not forget that we are fighting for peace and for the welfare of mankind," Mr. Truman told the troops lined up for the ceremony. "We are not fighting for conquest."

"There is not one piece of territory or one thing of a monetary nature that we want out of this war. We want peace and prosperity for the world as a whole. We want to see the time come when we can do the things in peace that we have been able to do in war."

"That is what we propose to do," Mr. Truman told the soldiers, infantrymen from the Second Armored division, that they had "proved conclusively that a free people can look after the affairs of the world."

The President, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Gen. Eisenhower and Patton reviewed the division.

The President spoke after Vice Admiral Emory S. Land, chief of the U. S. Maritime commission and War Shipping administration, arrived with his staff in response to a special request from President Truman.

The President was described as eager to return to Washington as soon as possible after the conference here closes.

He is keeping in close touch with congressional considerations of the United Nations charter and Bretton Woods proposals, and the "little white house" map room is receiving hourly reports on the Pacific war.

U.S. Transforms Guam Into Powerful Pacific Bastion

By MURLIN SPENCER

GUAM, July 20—The island of Guam which Japan captured four days after the outbreak of war has been transformed in a single year into the most powerful bastion in the Pacific.

Nearly one year after American Marines and soldiers stormed the beaches of this key Marianas island—it was on July 21, 1944—the Navy disclosed what has been accomplished in making this once almost undefended base into a fortress greater than Singapore.

The change is so great a 50-year-old native who had spent every day of his life on the lush, green tropical island became lost after straying only eight miles from his native hut. The Seabees had removed his familiar landmarks.

In one year's time, including the 21 days required to take back the island in bitter fighting against the Japanese, the Navy has:

Now Boasts 8 Airfields
Constructed eight airfields including three massive strips from which B-29 bombers strike at Tokyo. So great is this air base, its planes use 15,000,000 gallons of aviation gasoline per month.

Virtually completed the largest dredging job in the world—the removal of 6,000,000 cubic yards of coral—to turn a bay harbor into the largest forward military port in the world.

Constructed 150 miles of highways, including 40 miles of paved highways.

Established headquarters for Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz; Vice Adm. John H. Hoover, commander of the U. S. Public Health service was transferred here; headquarters for Lt. Gen. Barney Giles, commander of the new B-29 Strategic Air Forces, and headquarters for Marine Maj. Gen. Henry L. Larsen, island commander.

Completed a covered storage space equal to 26 large city blocks.

Stepped up a building program that uses 12,000,000 board feet of lumber a month or more than twice as much lumber as passed through Boston harbor in peace time for use in all New England.

Constructed lumber mills on the island which produce 50,000 board feet per week.

Brought in and used enough cement on roads and airfields to have constructed a four-lane highway 220 miles long.

Constructed eight military-four army and four navy—hospitals with 11,819 beds.

Set up communication facilities to handle 12,000 messages daily. They are served by 125 major BURBANK, Calif., July 20—A P-38 Lightning plane has soared to an unofficial American altitude record of 44,940 feet. Lockheed Aircraft corporation announced last night.

Lockheed's chief test pilot, Joe Towle, was at the controls with Col. Randolph Lovelace, chief of the Army aero-medical laboratory at Wright Field, Ohio, riding in a piggy-back seat.

The official American mark of 43,165 feet was established by a special army plane in 1930.

PILOTS BLAST
5 JAP CITIES
AND SHANGHAIResults of 600-Plane Raid
Reported Highly Successful

(By Associated Press)

GUAM, July 20—More than 600 Superfortresses in record strength set conflagrations in five Japanese industrial centers with 4,000 tons of incendiary bombs today as Okinawa-based Tactical Air forces made the war's heaviest raid on Shanghai and Thunderbolt fighter bombers sealed off rail transport to the Japanese city of Kagoshima.

The Superfortresses set Fukui, Hitachi, Choshi and Okazaki afire and struck the Nippon oil refinery at Amagasaki in raids before dawn. All results were declared to be good to excellent. Two B-29's were lost; five crewmen from one ship were rescued.

The Japanese Domei agency admitted some damage from the raids. Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced from Manila more than 300 tactical medium, heavy and attack bombers with fighter escort, all from Okinawa, crossed the East China sea and hurled more than 200 tons of bombs on Kiangnan airbase, just north of Shanghai.

Greatest Base In China

Kiangnan, the greatest enemy air base in China, had four paved runways for bombers, two fighter strips and numerous buildings. Heavy cloud cover prevented accurate observation of results. Thunderbolts which escorted the bombers found and hit the Tingrai airbase in Chu Shan island opposite Shanghai in low-level attacks.

Coincident with these Tuesday raids, others of MacArthur's Okinawa-based Far East Air forces heavily hit Kagoshima on the main Japanese southern island of Kyushu, blocking three important railway tunnels and damaging a fourth. Kagoshima, a city of 180,000, site of munitions works and a submarine shipyard, was thus cut off from rail communications with the rest of Japan.

Kagoshima's docks also were hit along with oil storage facilities. Another force of MacArthur's tactical Thunderbolts put twelve 500-pound bombs into a 10,000-ton Japanese freighter and left it sinking halfway between Okinawa and Kyushu.

Smoke Rises From Targets
Navy search privates and Liberator pilots had their best single day against Japanese shipping between the Asiatic mainland and the Japanese islands on Wednesday, sinking 11 and damaging five small coastal cargo ships. Fleet Air Wings one and 18 made the strikes, off the Korean east coast and opposite Honshu.

The Second Marine aircraft wing ran its bag to 500 since it entered the Okinawa campaign April 7. The Superfortresses in the heaviest strategic raid of the war, hit five centers on Honshu from 60 to 200 miles from Tokyo in their campaign against Japanese "shadow" (small home) industries.

Crewmen reported smoke rising 17,000 feet high over Fukui and said "it looked like the target was destroyed completely."

Three city officials returned last night from Cleveland where they conferred with a bonding concern on issuance of mortgage revenue bonds to finance the construction of the city's 3,000,000 gallon water reservoir.

The findings of the trio—which included City Auditor K. L. Webster, Solicitor Lozier Caplan and Finance Committee Chairman Harry Vincent, will be reported at the next meeting of council.

It was deemed unwise to issue bonds to the extent of $250,000, as council originally proposed, because the water department's income does not warrant such a large amount. It is expected that bonds will be issued in a smaller amount to finance about half the project, which will cost approximately $140,000. Half the needed money is now in a surplus in the water fund.

HELLCAT PILOTS
SCORE 47 TO 0
VICTORY IN SKY

WASHINGTON, July 20—Fourteen Hellcat pilots of Air Group 30 scored a 47 to 0 victory over Japanese Kamikaze planes seeking to attack task force 58 off Okinawa April 6.

American carrier pilots knocked down the Japanese suicide fighters and bombers in a spectacular 30-minute engagement. Not a Yank was lost or injured, the Navy reported today.

Air Group 30 now is home for rest and reassignment.

In its entire tour, Fighting 30 knocked down 110 enemy planes without losing a pilot in aerial combat.

Operating from an Independence class carrier, Air Group 30 served with Vice Adm. Marc Mitscher's famed Task Force 58 during the period when it supported two major invasions, destroyed or disabled remnants of the Japanese fleet and shot down thousands of planes.

Fighting 30 sank or probably sank 11 ships including a destroyer, and damaged 46, including a light cruiser, a destroyer, three escort vessels and two submarines.

They are: (1) Chiba; (2) Kanagawa; (3) Ibaraki; (4) Gumma; (5) Saitama; (6) Fukushima; (7) Tochigi, and (8) Tokyo. Spotted on the map is Yokosuka naval station in Tokyo Bay, which was heavily damaged and where units of what remains of the Japanese fleet were discovered in hiding.

"Yoo-Hoo!"
Some 'Boos' Heard When
Lt. Gen. Lear Walks
Down Gangplank

(By Associated Press)
BOSTON, July 20—Gees variously interpreted by newsmen as cheers, "yoo-hoos," "boo-hoos" and "boos," sounded from the soldier-crowded decks of the SS Mariposa today as Lt. Gen. Ben Lear walked down the gangplank of the liner, returning with 2,833 veterans—two thirds of them sick or wounded.

The general who once disciplined troops in training in Tennessee for shouting "yoo-hoo" at girls whom they passed, paid high tribute in an interview later to the mettle of American soldiers in battle and said he was proud of their conduct both on and of the field of combat.

The general, hastening down the gangplank to a waiting automobile, showed no evidence of having heard either cheers or boos from the veterans who leaned from rails and portholes, tossing coins and cigars and shouting to onlookers as the ship was warped into the dock.

"The American soldier," said the General, "has done a grand job in every sense of the word and has lived fully up to my highest expectations both on the battlefield and off, and I am very proud of him. He deserves the highest praise for the way he conducted himself in Europe and Italy and don't forget Italy."

Asked about his future plans, Lt. Gen. Lear said, "I reached retirement age two years ago but remained on the active list to serve in this war. Now, I expect to go on the retired list."

Enemy Fears
Invasion Of
Yellow SeaBy LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Invasion-jittery Japanese commanders were reported today to be pulling thousands of troops out of Central China to guard the shores of the Yellow sea against a possible American landing.

The report from a Chinese army spokesman coincides with a meeting of the Japanese cabinet to consider "problems of the day."

Maj. Gen. Kuo Chi Chih said that in the last month 100,000 Nipponese troops have been shifted from Central China's Hunan province to Shantung province to meet American amphibious assaults. Others were transferred to the coast from North China.

Chinese reported today they now control 50 miles of the South China coast 125 miles southwest of Canton.

The Japanese previously abandoned about 250 miles of the East China coast below Shanghai, now being hit by Okinawa-based American bombers. Their withdrawal was in the general direction of Shantung.

Shantung is across the Yellow sea from Korea, and slightly more than 500 miles west of Japan. It would afford one of the most direct approaches to the Nipponese mainland arsenal in Manchuria.

Washington dispatches indicated there was no probability of an imminent invasion. Premier T. V. Soong predicted today the war will be about over by Dec. 1. But American commanders, who are planning on a conquest of North China and Manchuria, figure it will last until late next year.

Isolated From Homeland
General Kuo said the 1,000,000 Japanese combat troops in China and Manchuria are concentrated in the north and central nerve centers where they will put up suicide stands.

He said the American air blockade would prevent their being reinforced or going to the defense of their homeland.

A Tokyo radio commentator asserted Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey's Allied naval forces had been "completely frustrated" in its attempt to size up Japan's defensive strength and may have withdrawn after a ten-day air and naval bombardment. But he wasn't too sure about it.

Silence following the bombardment of the entrances to Tokyo bay was reminiscent of the radio blackout preceding last Saturday's shelling of Kamashi, the first naval gun attack on Japan.

Japanese apologists were kept busy explaining why the emperor's fleet and air forces wouldn't fight until Yank forces attempt an invasion. Unrest in Nippon was reported so great the navy minister admitted Japanese were showing resentment toward their war duties.

More than 600 Superforts hit five industrial targets on the Honshu land and some 300 Okinawa-based army planes hit Nippon's largest airbase in China, while other far ranging planes sank or damaged 23 more Nipponese ships. Among them as a 10,000 ton freighter, a rarity these days.

U. S. To Ship Coal
For Use In Europe

WASHINGTON, July 20—Secretary of the Interior Ickes today announced that if possible, about 6,000,000 tons of American coal will be shipped to Europe for civilian use, between now and Jan. 1.

He said he wanted the American people "to know that this decision involves the risk that we may have to suffer a shortage of coal in this country next winter more acute than heretofore predicted," and that coal allotments for home consumption may have to be reduced. Earlier, he had predicted "the worst fuel shortage of the war" for this country.

Ickes asked the fuel conservation directors of 25 states to launch drives immediately to place homes and other buildings in condition to keep warm on short fuel quotas next winter.

American Discipline

Troop ships are beginning to string a chain of fighting men and equipment transplanted from Europe to the Asiatic theater of war. In hundreds of thousands of American homes, sons, husbands and brothers are having the tantalizing privilege of a few weeks to visit with families before starting on the unfinished business and hardships of World War II. It is one of the most poignant experiences of the war, an experience that could not be endured without a strong sense of duty and discipline.

It is typical of the American habit of underestimating the things that are the key to its strength in the war that this tremendous transfer of fighting power and the transfer of popular focus that goes with it are being accepted as a matter of course. Aside from the mechanical difficulties the railroads are having, the whole process is occurring with a minimum of interest and attention. Yet it is by all odds one of the major miracles performed in the war.

It represents in a tangible way the maturity of the military might of the United States. Six years ago, when World War II was almost ready to explode with the invasion of Poland, the United States was a minor power. It was incapable of putting an effective force into the field. It doubted even its potentialities. In a national election a year later, the spokesmen for its two great political parties were still talking about issues that had no direct relationship to the tasks which events already had imposed on the nation. It is proper to realize and appreciate occasionally, as an antidote for our misgivings what tremendous things have been made possible in a few short years by American determination and initiative.

Face To Save

It can be taken for granted that the Japanese militarists will not let their people know any sooner than necessary that some of the shells wrecking their cities are from British battleships. The fact that Britain is now taking part in the naval offensive against the homeland, even on a relatively small scale, marks the climax of a ghastly Japanese blunder. It will lose the militarists more face when it becomes generally known than they could restore in the next century, if they lived that long.

The combining of the world's two largest navies against Japan's fleet, now whittled down to a weak third, is the counterpart in the Orient of Germany's tragic blunder in two world wars—the two-front war. Japan was theoretically capable of dealing singly with the British fighting fleet after most of its Pacific strength had been drawn off by the war in Europe and the remainder crippled and driven to cover in the Indian ocean. It was theoretically capable for a time of standing off the United States fighting fleet, divided between the Atlantic and Pacific and with the Pacific shore crippled at Pearl Harbor. But now it is neither theoretically nor practically capable of dealing with either; the United States and British fleets together are insuperable by any known calculation.

Every Japanese with the slightest conception of his country's necessities in military defense knows that the war has been lost when enemy battleships can maneuver at will and virtually unmolested off the coast of the home islands.

The Axis Taint

Generalissimo Franco's public yearning for restoration of the Spanish monarchy as the best means of preserving his ideals sounds like a mean trick on the royal candidate. It has the effect of transferring Franco's own Axis taint to Don Juan, the logical contender.

There is more to the taint than its element of fascism, which is getting to be a hard word to define in European politics. Franco's great offense was to call in foreign military power to establish his regime. He betrayed Spain as callously as Mussolini betrayed Italy—by submitting his own countrymen to the ferocity of outsiders. The standard rebuttal, that this was to save them communists, is weakened by the historic fact that the regime which Franco ousted had been legitimately elected; Franco did not stage a counter-revolution but a revolution.

He must stand history's judgment for his acts. It is too soon to know yet what all of the final verdict will be, but as his time begins to run out Franco is not wearing well. He declares that his regime has been misunderstood abroad, but it never was misunderstood on one score—that of a successful attempt by a military dictator backed by foreign powers to overthrow a legitimate government.

Sturdy Stock

We have often wondered where some of our war leaders, no longer youngsters, find the energy and endurance to perform their tremendous tasks. Perhaps the answer lies in the sturdy stock from which they spring.

We have all seen recent pictures of spry little ladies greeting such grizzled sons of battle as Generals Eisenhower, Spatz and Clark, and Admirals Halsey and Mitscher, and of the active 92-year-old mother of the President and Commander-in-Chief.

Looking at these pictures one gets a better idea, perhaps, of the source of much of the strength, sense and spirit that the boys have shown.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, July 21

A day of important and far-reaching decisions may prove very thrilling or dramatic, even though there may be devastating or disintegrating events. Final issues of such critical situations depend upon the calm, reasonable and controlled behavior and not on impetuous, erratic or emotional performance. Public interests or community associations are involved, possible with spectacular denouements. It might be possible to amalgamate clashing situations by clever use of the personal element, social cultural or perhaps sentimental.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of surprising and swift moving events, possibly devastating or uprooting. If not in environs, this change may be an about face in plans, ideas or tactics. Public or community seem to participate, perhaps with some sort of dramatic or sensational move. But a conservative or controlled mode of action, with subdued impulses and erratic emotions, may advance the desires and objectives with quite unforeseen culminations. Personal charm, social status or romantic appeal have important influence in final outcome if discreetly utilized.

A child born on this day will have much originality or skill, with aspirations for public approbation. With proper reserve and technique, it may enjoy a dramatic and adventurous career.

We understand that President Truman fancies Bourbon over Scotch. And we shall be anxious for word from those ceremonial Big Three banquets in Berlin as to whether, of the two strongest nations' strongest drinks, vodka or bonded 100-proof essence of Kentucky corn and grain is the better diplomatic persuader.

Pains In the Lower Abdomen

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHEN a person has pain at recurring intervals in the right lower part of the abdomen he is most likely to believe that the condition is caused by chronic appendicitis. Then, he may have the appendix removed, and unfortunately, may find that he has obtained no relief from his symptoms. If the pain is due to chronic appendicitis, removal of the appendix will, of course, relieve the trouble.

Sometimes, however, the trouble is due to some other cause such as a mild bowel inflammation, trouble with the right kidney, or, in women, the right fallopian tube, as well as other causes.

Chronic Appendicitis
According to Doctor Oscar J. Cervino of Argentina, chronic appendicitis results from repeated acute attacks of inflammation of the appendix. Thus it has been found that in a group of patients who had chronic appendicitis and who suffered repeated acute attacks, removal of the appendix brought complete relief to nine out of every ten. In other patients who supposedly had not suffered previous acute attacks, removal of the appendix brought about a cure in only two out of 25.

In chronic appendicitis, according to Doctor Cervino, the pain in the right lower part of the abdomen may be slight but is continuous. It frequently passes downward into the leg or upward into the pit of the stomach. In women, the pain may be worse during the regular monthly periods. It is not made worse or better by eating.

However, it may develop from two to three hours after meals and may also be brought on by exercise.

It is often accompanied by sickness to the stomach and sometimes by vomiting. Frequently there is slight during the evening and lasts for a few hours. Most of the patients suffer from constipation. However, occasionally there may be diarrhea.

X-ray examinations, while helpful in diagnosing chronic appendicitis, is not a sure fire method. However, by means of X-ray examination, the size, shape and movability of the appendix may be determined and this evidence, together with the symptoms and findings on physical examination may make a diagnosis possible.

Of course, whenever a person has pain in the abdomen, a complete and careful study by a physician is necessary. If there have been repeated attacks of acute appendicitis and the symptoms point to the fact that chronic appendicitis has developed, removal of the appendix is, of course, advisable.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
J. S.—In olden times whenever a swelling occurred a mustard plaster was used to draw it out. Would this treatment be good for a swollen gland?

Answer—I know of no evidence that the treatment you mention would be of any value in the condition you mention. The cause for these swellings should be found so that proper treatment can be suggested.

Gas Firm To Rebuild

CLEVELAND, July 20.—The East Ohio Gas Co. today announced plans for the erection of a $650,000 garage and storage building on the site of the company's liquid gas plant, destroyed by fire and explosions which devastated the neighborhood last October. One hundred and thirty-four persons were killed in the disaster.

TWO SAILORS HELD FOR JURY ACTION

LISBON, July 20.—James Emery, 22, and Glen L. Chaney, 23, of Cincinnati, are in the county jail today after entering pleas of not guilty to charges of committing armed robbery of a motorist on Route 30 near Lisbon, yesterday morning. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Felix Butch.

Both are held on $5,000 bonds pending consideration of their cases by the grand jury in September. Shore police are expected to investigate within a few days, as both are over their leave by 30 days.

The two are accused of having held up Gordon Hansel of Uhrichsville with a .38 calibre revolver after he had given them a ride in his car. The two took $50 from him and then got out of the auto in Lisbon, where they were arrested by Sheriff George Hayes after Hansel reported the theft.

Nominating Petitions For November Mailed

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 20.—Scores of nominating petitions for Nov. 6 ballot places in 13 cities and villages, 19 townships and 22 school districts of Columbiana county were mailed by the board of elections today, after prospective candidates awakened to the realization that a recently enacted Ohio soldier voting law advanced the filing deadline.

Although Aug. 8, or the ninth day before the election, is filing deadline, only 17 candidates have qualified for 200 non-partisan village, township and school district ballot places.

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON—Here are some general questions from GIs and their relatives:

Q. My husband is an enlisted man overseas. My two children and I are living in a very old house in a crowded section of town. I know we are paying too much rent and the roof leaks. A recent rain ruined some of my furniture. I refused to pay the rent until the landlord fixed the roof and replaced the damaged furniture. He threatens to throw me out. What can I do about it? Can he legally evict me?

A. Take your case to the local rent control board. The landlord can't evict you without a court order. The court can hold up any eviction for three months, and if the case is exactly as you stated the judge will probably make a just settlement of the affair to your satisfaction.

Q. After a long illness my wife died recently. We had no children. How can I go about changing the beneficiary on my insurance, and can I select someone else to receive the six months gratuity in case I am killed in action?

A. You can designate a dependent relative as beneficiary for your gratuity pay and write to the Veterans Administration to change the beneficiary of your National Service Life Insurance.

Q. My father died last year. That left me with absolutely no relatives. I wanted to change my Government insurance to make a buddy of mine in my outfit the beneficiary in case I am killed. I wrote and asked them to do this but they said it couldn't be done. Is this true?

A. Yes. A beneficiary has to be in a certain general class which includes all relatives or blood relations. A friend of yours cannot be designated as a beneficiary.

Homemaking Course For Boys
To Accentuate The Practical

(By United Press)
ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Johnny and Joe are going to get more than they bargained for when they return to the classroom in St. Louis next fall.

Readin', writin' and 'rithmetic are elementary, but something new is added.

Sixth, seventh and eighth grade boys will find themselves face to face with a new special course in homemaking, which will accentuate the positive in the way of practical training in practical everyday things of life.

The youngsters will learn the correct way to wrap a pair of three-cornered pants around Junior when the occasion demands. They'll learn something about the rudiments of preparing a meal with the proper amount of vitamins and calories.

Fres. Pants, Darn Socks

They'll learn how to press their pants and darn their socks.

"This new course will make home living better and, if it does that it's well worth the time spent on it," declared William N. Selman, director of elementary education and chairman of the course and study council for public schools.

The teachers won't trust the boys to try out their new knowledge on mother. They will bring their pants to school and mend them there. They'll have to bring spotted shirtwaists to school and take out the spots.

They will practice the better methods of laundering.

And Johnny and Joe may not like this part: they will be given lessons on their personal appearances. Calling it "personal grooming" won't make the task any easier, either.

Lessons in Scrubbing

The children will give one another manicures, and will demonstrate preferred methods of shampooing and will make their own shoe-shining kits—and learn how to use them.

Carrying the idea even further, the kids will be given instructions in scrubbing the kitchen and bathroom floors, washing woodwork and how to make window panes shine.

Boys as well as girls will learn how to buy sheets and how to market to the best advantage.

"Personal and Family Relations" courses are aimed at bringing about better adjustments between members of the family, and should prove good training for future husbands and wives.

It's lower education for better living.

Sees Midwest Problems
On Reconversion Fewer

CHICAGO — Reconversion optimism prevails in the midwest, the Department of Commerce's Midwest regional office reports.

In a report by Robert H. Perry, regional business consultant in Chicago, the office says that because the increased facilities for war expansion in the states comprising this region have generally followed peacetime patterns, the problems incident to reconversion are expected to provide less of a shock than may be the case in other sections of the country.

Corset Is Lazy Way To Slim Down

By ALICIA HART

Heavy corsets, which squeeze you in here and push you out there, are a lazy way out of the figure-work you should do for yourself. That work is: Exercise, diet, good-posture practice, or seeing a physician if there is a glandular disorder. So says motion-picture stylist Orry-Kelly, who has dressed top Hollywood stars for years. Decriing lazy dependency upon a corset, he says it is not intended to correct figure faults—only to provide good anchorage for the perfect fit of clothes. Correct posture, according to Orry-Kelly, is the great unknown to nine out of ten women. "What is the good of smart, fashionable attire," he asks, "if a woman slumps like a hippo at the riverside?" To put good clothes over rounded shoulders and a sagging frame is like putting a perfect make-up over an unwashed face.

$90,000 'Electric Brain' Placed At Illinois Tech

CHICAGO—A new $90,000 A-C network calculator, the 13th of its kind in the world, has been installed at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Designed and built by the Westinghouse Electric Corp., this huge electric brain has been installed in a new network calculator laboratory in Illinois Tech's main building. The purchase was made possible through contributions by 17 Midwest sponsoring companies, who bought time on a weekly unit basis extending over a 12-year period.

Capable of duplicating any existing or proposed power system in the world, the network calculator can solve difficult problems in power system operation and design accurately and with savings of hundreds of man-hours previously required in computation.

Employing small coils, resistors and capacitors, the calculator can reproduce any electrical condition, from the generator in the power station to the lamp socket in the home.

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

—by Hal Boyle

asked Capt. Lindsay Nelson of Columbia, Tenn. Every German in earshot had snapped to attention in a grating hobnail chorus.

The "achtungs" were coming from the Germans themselves, and the last syllable rang across the prison yard like a breaking banjo string.

"We let these birds know who was boss 'right off," said Doty. "We've got about 5,100 in here now, including SS PW's."

Work inside the camp is done chiefly by SS troops. This includes providing music for Sunday church services. The 35-voice male chorus is 100 percent SS.

Attendance at church—either Catholic or Protestant—is compulsory. Doty had the prisoners build two open air chapels and services are held regularly.

"Rain or shine," Doty said, "we're gonna make human beings out of them whether they like it or not."

For entertainment, Doty ordered the Germans to organize a soccer team to play each Sunday afternoon against a team of Hungarian prisoners, who are segregated.

The first two Sundays the Germans thrashed the Hungarians soundly, much to Doty's displeasure. Subsequent contests, however, have been one-sided affairs with the Germans coming out bruised and beaten.

Doty had sent a scout through the division's area who turned up two strapping Hungarians who had been professional soccer players. They had already been discharged from the PW cage, but for a couple of square meals a week they agreed to play on the Hungarian team.

The Germans don't know yet what happened.

"Most of the SS will be with us a long time, I guess," Doty said. "We will probably have all the others discharged by the middle of August."

At one time, a canister was a wicker basket for bread or fruit. It came from the Greek "kanas-ron."

Anti-aircraft guns could not reach a plane flying 3000 feet high at the beginning of World War I.

INGOLSTADT, Germany — Few people could run a German prisoner of war camp with more aplomb than this undertaker from Sioux City, Iowa—Lt. C. W. Doty. It was obvious the minute a person walked inside the fenced area and heard the wave of "achtungs" sweeping ahead of the officer. "How do you like that discipline?"

Ritchie Returns To Beat Demings 11-1; Mullins Wins 9-1

Pumpers Dropped Into 3rd As Lanney Wins Over Eagle Team; Stratton, May Homer

One-sided contests were the rule in Class A play at Centennial park last night as the Mullins outfit, now resting in second place, faced the Eagles 9-1 and the Salem China, now playing their best team, cashed in on hits and misuses to whip Demings 11-1 and eliminate them from a possible crack at the round title.

Pitcher Dale Ritchie, who did not choose to toss against the league-leading Sinclairs two days ago, hurled against Demings, a top place contender and dropped them from any chance at the title this time.

Ritchie was tagged six times and allowed a single run to score in the seven inning stretch. He walked none and fanned 10. The China, now using Byron Mumaw, Fred Reese and Jim Nocera once again after nearly a year's layoff, played with but one miscue.

Mullins had the usual easy time with the cellar placed Eagles. Francis Lanney walked five men, fanned seven others and allowed the bird-men only five hits. One, a homer in the last frame, came when Bud Ingledue's fly ball to left was allowed to roll and roll because the left fielder, Vince Dominetti, was chasing a previous fouled ball.

Mullins tallied one run in the first, four in the third, three in the fourth and another in the fifth. The Eagle run came in the last.

Stratton Homers
Paul Stratton, veteran first sacker, clapped out a long homer with two men on for Mullins, while in the other game Earl May, China third sacker, banged away for four bases with the sacks full in the seventh inning when Ralph Phyllis was on the mound for the pumpers.

In the Pumper-Potter contest Kenny Bruderly started but was driven from the mound in the sixth after the China had scored four runs on seven hits during his stay. His brother, Hal, a furloughed Army

PENNANT BOOMING HITS CHICAGO IN OLD TIME STYLE

Gates Swinging Daily As Zooming Cubs Hold 3½-Game Lead

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Soaring Wrigley field attendance figures reflect a full-scale pennant boom in Chicago where Charley Grimm's Cubs are threatening to re-enact their 1935 success story.

In fifth place when they left home less than a month ago, the Bruins stormed through the east at breakneck speed, grabbed the lead in Philadelphia and came home to lengthen their advantage to 3½ games.

Since returning to Chicago, the Bruins have drawn such banner week day throngs as 42,047 (a 15-year record) and 29,513, and a six-day Sunday high of 43,803. The total for the eight-day stand is approximately 169,000, counting the 10,128 who watched yesterday's 2-1 triumph over Brooklyn.

Hank Wyse continued to establish himself as one of the premier curvers in the circuit by limiting the Dodgers to five hits as he notched his 13th decision and seventh straight.

Pitching remains the standout feature of the Bruins' flag drive with 14 starting pitchers going the route as the club streaked to 18 victories in its last 21 tilts. That's not quite up to the 21-game string the 1935 gang ran up on its way to 100 decisions and its enough to salt away 50 wins with 73 more to go.

Cards Have Trouble

St. Louis continues to have trouble beating the Phillies who drop dead at the sight of any other club in the league. The Cards have beaten them only 8 times in 15 starts and they had to scramble for a seven-run rally in the eighth inning last night to stay out front in the season series.

The Phils dropped St. Louis in the opened 3-2 for Oscar Judd's first success of the year and the Red Birds grabbed the finale, 9-4.

Cincinnati climbed out of seventh place for a spell but dropped back after losing the nightcap of a twilight doubleheader to Boston. Woody Williams ninth-inning single scoring Frank McCormick beat Johnny Hutchings in the first, 4-3. Butch Niemans three-run homer in the nightcap tied the score at 5-all in the seventh and he walked to set the stage for the Braves 6-5 decision in the tenth.

Rip Sewell, apparently hurt in his old effective form, shut the door on the New York Giants, 4-0. Thornton Lee was in and out of hot water all day in Boston but the Chicago White Sox veteran lefty survived to hand the Red Sox a 5-3 setback.

Tale Of Massillon's Rise In Football, From Pro To Present Day, Interesting

By FRED J. BECKER

Editor, Massillon Evening Independent

MASSILLON, July 20.—How can a town the size of Massillon—population less than 30,000—attract crowds of 15,000 to 22,000 to its High School football games, not once but several times during a season?

That is the question most frequently heard among sports followers discussing the remarkable gridiron record of Massillon's rather amazing Washington High School Tigers and its equally amazing Tiger swing band. Both nationally famous for their exploits.

The answer is easy. Massillon and football grew up together. This hand-to-hand journey the past 40 years together with the injection of high class coaching and showmanship has made this Stark county city the scholastic football capital of the nation.

Although Latrobe, Pa., probably will dislodge this Massillon can still be considered the cradle of professional football.

The first professional game may have been played in that Pennsylvania city but it was here in Massillon and at Canton and Akron that pro football really became a sport in more than name.

More than 40 years ago Massillon, then a struggling mining community of less than 15,000, took a fling at professional football and liked it so much that during 1904, '05 and '06 it had wearing the Orange and Black colors of its now famous Tiger the greatest college football stars in the land.

During these years the professional Tigers were coached and trained by top notch coaches and trainers. The players came here early in the fall and remained throughout the entire season, going through their paces daily, just as college and high school teams do, before the admiring gaze of their followers.

Pro Game Drops
The pro sport hit the toboggan after 1906 and the Tigers passed out of existence but football had become firmly implanted in Massillon and so it has remained on down through the years.

It was not until 1912 that Massillon High school put football, as well as other athletics, on a scholastic basis by adding coaches to the list of instructors.

From then on scholastic football became a popular local sport because Massillon fans were hungry for their favorite athletic pastime.

With one exception high school football has enjoyed its greatest success and prosperity with native Massillon sons as coaches.

In 1914 John Snively, a Massillon boy, had finished college and came back to Massillon to coach football. For six years he enjoyed remarkable success.

As the scholastic Tigers roared into prominence more and more fans began to attend High school games.

In 1921 David B. Stewart came to Massillon from Pennsylvania and for five years he developed more Tiger Powerhouses and the fame of the Washington High school Tiger continued to grow until the school board finally constructed a new stadium that would seat about 10,000 spectators.

Stewart is now coaching at Sharon, Pa., High school. For five years after Stewart left Tigertown, Massillon's football had its ups and downs. Then came 1931 and the board of education was looking for a new coach.

Comes Brown
Into the picture stepped Paul E. Brown—"Precision Paul". Brown got the job. He was another native son, who had played High school football under Stewart and then went on to Miami University at Oxford, where he became an outstanding football, basketball and track star even though weighing less than 140 pounds.

After 1940 Brown moved on to Columbus where at Ohio State he compiled another enviable coaching record until he enlisted in the Navy. He is now a Lieutenant (jg), stationed at Great Lakes, Ill.

W. G. (Bud) Houghton, another Massillon boy and also a Naval lieutenant, took over in 1941 and came through with a record of nine wins against one tie, a 6-6 encounter with Mansfield.

The following year Elwood Kammer, another Massillon product, took over and in three years his teams won 26 of 30 games, with one undefeated season, 1943. Canton McKinley defeated Kammer coached team's twice while Cleveland Cathedral Latin and Warren also turned the trick last fall.

Kammer gives way next season to A. E. (Angie) Morningstar, another Massillonian, who learned his High School football under Brown and later starred at Purdue.

In 1939 a new stadium, situated on a 35-acre wooded tract in the southeast section of the city, was built largely through government funds. It will seat about 22,000 when filled to capacity and has been filled quite a number of times the last six years.

Band Tops
For the past 10 years Washington High teams have annually played to from 150,000 to 175,000 spectators, attracting more people than any other High school or college in Ohio, except Ohio State.

A football game in Massillon now is more than a football game. It is a show. The Tiger swing band under the direction of George Bird has given Massillon one of the outstanding High School musical organizations in the country.

Bird, a showman, has taken full advantage of the opportunities afforded for showmanship under the lights at night games, and spectacular band shows, together with well coached football teams have made Massillon the outstanding spot in the country to see a truly spectacular football show.

DOYLE BLASTS FOE IN CLEVELAND TRY

Tommy Bell Falls by Way In Match To Get To Higher Up Bout

BY FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, July 20.—Come Aug. 28, and you'll probably find Jimmy Doyle, the fighting Irishman from Los Angeles, trading punches in Cleveland stadium with Ray (Sugar) Robinson or Harold Green, two boys who have done pretty well in eastern rings.

Doyle, an 8 to 5 underdog, earned that bout last night by facing Youngstown's Tommy Bell in the late going to win a unanimous decision in the stadium before 7,964 fans who chucked $31,314 into the cash boxes.

Matchmaker Larry Atkins promised the winner a "shot at either Robinson or Green, and there was no doubt about who won the 10-round fray.

Hard Hitter
A devastating attack on the mid-section, coupled with some hefty slugs to the chin when Bell hefted his guard to protect his beltline, gave Doyle the unanimous nod.

The only thing that faintly resembled a knockdown came in the seventh when Bell hit the deck from a combined slip and tap on the chin, but he was up before a count could be started.

The victory was Doyle's 33rd in 38 fights, and the loss was one of the very few suffered a setback at the hands of Jake La Motta—a defeat which the talent said did him no good against Doyle.

ATHLETICS RAISE $128 FOR DIAMOND

A total of $128 was raised for the Centennial park ball diamond improvement fund by the Salem Athletics in their game with the Dormont All-Stars last Sunday. Sponsor Scott Chisholm reported today.

The team held a meeting last night and heard reports on the ticket sale amounting to $363. Of that $290 went to the Dormont team, $25 for advertising and tickets and $10 for the loudspeaker.

Salem players, umpires and the announcer donated their services for the game and the equipment was furnished by the City News and Sporting Goods Co.

Sport Chatter

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Service football schedules that are just beginning to roll in give a pretty good idea of where strength will be found on the gridiron next fall.

The seventh air force teams should be just about the tops (they're already "screening personnel to move the best players to headquarters").

The Fort Pierce, Fla., Navy Amphibious must have something or they wouldn't have scheduled five of the Air Force clubs.

The Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air station and Shoemaker Navy in California also figure to be strong as well as the Fort Benning, Ga., Infantry school and probably Great Lakes Navy—though Lieut. Paul Brown is moaning low over the loss of material.

SPORTSPOURRI

Durham, N. C., fans are wondering if their Carolina league club isn't the youngest bunch of ball players ever assembled in organized baseball. The baby of the team, Pitcher Tom Poholsky, is 15 years old. Two of the kids are just 16 and five are 17.

The Yankees new uptown offices will have more than ten rooms, including a big office for George Weiss, who will run the farm clubs from New York instead of Newark.

Comdr. Jack Dempsey is doing road work daily in Central park with Abel Cestac, the Argentine heavyweight, just to be in shape in case he gets another Pacific assignment.

CLEANING THE CUFF

The Marquette and Villanova football teams will meet each other half way next fall and play in Buffalo.

War Happenings

By ROBIN COONS

IWO JIMA—Even with all the improvements brought by Americans since they took Iwo Jima from the Japanese in a terrible ordeal of battle last February and March, the island is still repulsive. Among the far-scattered sisterhood of Pacific islands it remains an ugly duckling. Marines who fought here would now see many changes in war-making facilities. Bulldozers have leveled Mt. Suribachi and carved a wide road to its summit. They have pushed cliffs aside, wiping out many of the old Japanese caves.

Traffic dust clouds the dozens of new roads. Sleek asphalt airstrips dispatch and welcome hordes of fierce Mustang and Black Widow fighter planes which scourge the enemy homeland. Many days and nights the distinctive roar of empire-bound B-29s is heard. The Superforts are certain of haven here if they cannot make their Marianas bases. Fleet Air Wing 18 from bases here searches and harasses enemy waters and coasts, and air-sea rescue units have bases. Iwo is serving its purpose magnificently.

But physically the place remains so barren and cheerless that it is a constant reminder and symbol of war's desolation, a preview of what the whole world might well be if another war were permitted to send the race back to its lowly beginnings.

Iwo's is the very face of war, with Suribachi an ungainly, monstrous wart upon its almost animate grimace. From its black and blood-soaked beaches to its northern cliffs, the face of Iwo still leers. It is a graceless face, exuding a foul and sulphurous, steaming breath from many evil mouths.

And this, we are told, is Iwo's "loveliest, greenest season."

A little cane and a few scrubby wild poinsettias, in their small red brightness are like blood spattered from the death struggle of Marines and Japanese on

Elks' New Ruler

Wade H. Kepner

Wheeling, W. Va., civic leader elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at emergency wartime meeting held in New York City, July 16, 1945. Contrasting with Elks' Conventions of other years, attended by thousands of delegates, featuring ornate costumes and elaborate parades, the 1945 streamlined meeting was held quietly, without fanfare, and was attended by a small group, in keeping with wartime travel restrictions.

those primordial rock cliffs and cave-pitted crags. Here too, are other constant reminders crying for lasting peace—the inevitable, sure harvest of war for victor and vanquished. The white markers, row on row of them, in the military cemeteries.
